USED STANFORD WHITE'S MONEY IN EUROPE

And Continued Her Relations With the Architect After Her First Experience--Many Confessions Made Damaging Her Own Character.

New York, Feb. 22.—With tears burning their way down her cheeks, Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw admitted on the witness stand that after her first experience with Stanford White her relations with the architect continued for several months. But this was not all. There were other confessions which, while damaging her own character, accentuated all the more the terrible personal sacrifice she is making in the effort to save her husband from death in the electric chair.

In the cross-examination District Attorney Jerome gave no quarter. Thaw, his face buried in his hands, might easily have been out of the courtroom picture and none would have missed him. All eyes were upon the witness who occupied it. Mrs. Thaw had to sit on the edge of the chair in order that her feet might reach the floor. To make her more comfortable for the long ordeal still ahead of her, a footstool and a back-cushion was provided. Mr. Jerome announced that he probably would keep Mrs. Thaw under fire for two more days. Adjournment was taken until Monday morning.

After bringing out that her relations with White continued for some time, Mr. Jerome went deeper. Mrs. Thaw admitted that in 1903, after the return from Europe, she spent the night at Thaw's apartments in New York, and that for three weeks he and she occupied connecting apartments at the Grand hotel. She admitted with frankness that the champagne which she had declared had tasted bitter the night she lost consciousness in the mirrored bedroom was no more bitter than any other champagne she had drunk. In fact she declared it tasted like all the rest. She denied that she had intended for the jury to assume otherwise. Mrs. Thaw made what was perhaps considered her most damaging statement to the defendant when she said he had showed her copies of cablegrams that were being sent to Stanford White from Europe, asking him to use his influence with a certain man in London to prevent Mrs. Nesbit from "raising a fuss" and interfering with Evelyn continuing in the company of Thaw.

Mrs. Thaw also was forced to admit that when she and her mother went abroad with Thaw in 1903 they were still drawing upon the bounty of White. Evelyn declared that she had a letter of credit for $400 or $500 which was given to her by White and which she later turned over to Thaw. There was still a balance in the Mercantile Trust company to her order also. "But mama got all of that," said the witness. Attorney Jerome dwelt upon the subject of cablegrams which Thaw is said to have sent to White. He brought out that the cablegrams were sent after Thaw knew of the relations which had existed between Mrs. Nesbit and the architect. Mrs. Thaw would not admit that she knew positively who sent the cablegrams or whether her name was signed to them. "Surely," said Mr. Jerome, "you don't mean to say that he signed his own name?" "No, I don't mean that at all," she replied.

A letter written by Mrs. Thaw in 1904 and telling of her gay life in Paris with Harry Thaw and a "bunch from the tenderloin" was read to the jury by Mr. Jerome. This brought out more testimony as to "The Dead Rat," a Parisian cafe. There seemed to be nothing in the witness' past life about which the prosecutor was not informed.

White's Personality.

In answer to a request for an explanation of her statement that it was Stanford White's personality that caused a softening of her anger and her writing to him from Boulogne, Mrs. Thaw said: "It was very hard for me to make Mr. Thaw understand about that," she said. "I don't know whether I can make you understand."

"Will you try?" "He had a very strong personality. Outside that one awful thing, Stanford White was a very grand man. He was very good to me, and very kind. When I told Mr. Thaw this, he said it only made White a more dangerous man."

Mrs. Thaw said that after the occurrence in the Twenty-fourth street house she saw Mr. White almost every night until she went to school at Pompton, N. J., in the fall of 1902. After January, 1902, she refused to go anywhere alone with him, although he continually urged her to do so.

"During all this time that you were going around with Mr. White, you were receiving from him considerable sums of money?" "Yes."

Mrs. Thaw said that at different times during 1901 and 1902 she attended parties in the studios, where she had heard vulgar stories told of going to various lunches and suppers at the Twenty-fourth street house and to the Madison Square tower room. She often went alone in a carriage, trusting to White's promise that there would be others present. She did not go often to the Twenty-fourth street house, White having largely abandoned that place because he told her actresses who had been there had told about it "all over town."

Mr. Jerome asked whether Harry Thaw was easily affected by wine and witness replied "not particularly."

Mrs. Thaw said she and her mother and Thaw visited Paris and Boulogne and then went to London. Then there was a quarrel and Mrs. Nesbit remained in city of London while the witness and Thaw made a trip through Europe. Mrs. Thaw's description of the places visited were somewhat meager. At one time she remembered seeing "a pretty mountain" and at another time they visited a town "where I got some cheese that was very good."

"While you were in Austria did you spend some time in an old castle Mr. Thaw hired?" "Yes, about three weeks."

"Were you well at that time?" "Yes, I climbed mountains."

"While you were traveling with Thaw did you receive a letter from Abe Hummel?" "I don't think so."

"From your mother?" "No."

"At that time did you not have a letter of credit from Stanford White?" "I had one from Cooks."

"Stanford White gave it to you, didn't he?" "Yes, but I had given the letter to Mr. Thaw."

"Didn't you know that your mother was left in such need in London that she had to go to live with a chambermaid in a hotel?" "That is entirely untrue," said Mrs. Thaw with a stamp of her foot.

Mr. Jerome was reading from the typewritten statement made to him by Mrs. Holman.

About Evelyn's Mother.

"Do you know that about that time a cablegram was sent to Stanford White about your mother?" asked Mr. Jerome. "Yes."

"Did not this cablegram request Stanford White to use his influence with the American ambassador in London to keep your mother from raising a fuss and interfering with your going on with Thaw?" "It was not the American embassy, but a man," said Mrs. Thaw. "Mr. Thaw told me and showed me two cablegrams."

"To whom were they addressed?" "Stanford White."

"They were about your mother, weren't they?" "Yes, and there was something about a man and something going on in London."

"Was this man mentioned in the cablegram disreputable?" "Yes."

"You knew him, didn't you?" "Yes."

"Ever dine with him?" "Yes."

"Alone?" "I don't remember."

Mr. Delmas sent a genuine thrill through the courtroom by declaring that he had been informed it was the purpose of the district attorney to indict Mrs. Thaw. Mr. Jerome denied that any such statements had been made. He did not deny the purpose. This incident came when Mr. Jerome, in an effort to make the defense produce certain letters from Stanford White which Mrs. Thaw had declared

EMPEROR WILLIAM AND HIS FIVE ELDER SONS, ALL OFFICERS.

EMPEROR WILLIAM, CROWNPRINCE FREDERIK, PRINCE EITEL, PRINCE ADALBERT, PRINCE AUGUST, PRINCE OSCAR

Berlin, Feb. 22.—Emperor William never loses the opportunity of emphasizing his actions by some military display. He is accustomed every year to give personally the counter-sign to the Berlin Arsenal. This year when he went there he was accompanied by all his sons, with the exception of the youngest, Prince Joachim. The Berliners thus had the good fortune to see and cheer the emperor's boys, the five princes, wearing the respective uniforms of the divisions to which they belong.

were in the possession of Clifford Hartridge, one of her husband's attorneys, called Mr. Hartridge to the witness stand. The lawyer declined to answer all questions relating to the letters.

The district attorney wanted permission to discontinue the cross-examination of Mrs. Thaw long enough to take the testimony of Drs. Deematt of Kittanning and Bingham of Pittsburg, Pa., both of whom are to testify as to traces of insanity in both branches of the defendant's family. Mr. Jerome said he was informed the physicians were about to leave the jurisdiction of the court. The alienists were called to the stand and promised to be on hand when wanted.

CITY LIFE

Looked Forward to With Dread by the Venerable Farmer and He Shot Himself.

Aurora, Ind., Feb. 22.—Jack Stopher, aged 70, a farmer, attempted to commit suicide Thursday afternoon. Arriving before his wife he went to the Taylor's livery barn where he fired three shots at his head with a 32 caliber revolver, one of which took effect. No reason is assigned for his action. He may recover. It is thought that the idea of leaving his old home in the country may have made him despondent.

CAPTAIN ALONE WAS SAVED FROM STEAMER'S WRECK

KNOWN

AS PASSENGER LIST IS LOST

It is Believed That One Hundred and Forty-three Lives Were Lost on the Berlin.

London, Feb. 22.—With one single exception, that of the captain, all the passengers and the crew of the Rotterdam mail steamer Berlin, from Harwich to Holland, are believed to have perished when the vessel foundered as she was entering port at the Hook of Holland. The steamer had sailed weathered a gale, only to meet with disaster at her goal. The terrible seas broke up the steamer with such awful suddenness that all efforts to save life appear to have been utterly hopeless. It was reported that some few survivors were still clinging to the wreck, but as the heroic efforts of the lifeboat crews had failed to reach them, little hope that they would be saved remains.

On the fore deck of the Berlin at the moment of the disaster there were about 160 persons, all of whom were hurled into the sea. While Captain Parkinson was in the water he heard all around him the stifled cries of those who were drowning. He was constantly swept against floating corpses, and estimates that he must have encountered 20 bodies in this way.

No cause has been assigned for the accident, and it probably never will be known how the steamer came to miss the channel, which, although 300 yards wide and well buoyed and lighted, is always difficult of access in rough weather. It is conjectured that some derangement of the engines or steering gear may have rendered the vessel uncontrollable. Captain Parkinson of the Berlin had a good record of 14 years. The list of passengers was lost and all the names of those on board have not yet been learned, but as far as has been ascertained, there were no Americans among the passengers.

The first message of the disaster reached Harwich, and ran as follows: "The Berlin is stranded at the north pier. Her position is very dangerous. There is a heavy gale blowing. Tugs and lifeboats are going out to her assistance." Four hours later came the last message: "The Berlin is a total loss with all her crew and passengers. Nobody has been saved."

The former one is said to have cost $100,000.

CHICAGO ARTIST FOUND DEAD ON THE FLOOR OF HIS OFFICE WIFE OF MILLIONAIRE ARRESTED

Extortion of Victim for Enlargements of Photographs Alleged to Have Prompted the Deed
MURDERESS MADE DESPERATE EFFORT TO ESCAPE

But Was Taken in Custody by Officers, and at the Prison
Is Declared Hopelessly Insane--Evidence of a Quarrel.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Flora McDonald, wife of Michael McDonald, millionaire and former Democratic leader of Chicago, shot and killed Webster H. Guerin, alias Louis Fisher, proprietor of the Harrison Art company.

The tragedy was enacted in Guerin's office, and the motive for the deed is not quite clear. Mrs. McDonald became hysterical immediately after the shooting and was unable to make a connected statement. From what she said, however, it is believed that for some time Guerin had obtained money from her by the threat of making disclosures to her husband, unless paid for keeping silent.

Mrs. McDonald entered Guerin's office, and the latter, as soon as she entered, directed his office boy, Herman Hanson, to leave and return later. A quarrel between Mrs. McDonald and Guerin had already commenced when the boy left the office. Within 15 minutes after the departure of Hanson the report of a revolver was heard, and when other occupants of the building rushed to the door of Guerin's office they found it locked, with Mrs. McDonald endeavoring to escape through a hole she had made with the butt of her revolver in the glass which formed the upper half of the door. Her face was covered with blood which streamed from a number of small cuts inflicted by the glass.

The husband of Mrs. McDonald, who came immediately to her cell, declared that he knew of no reason why she should have shot Guerin except that possibly he had endeavored to extort money from her. Mr. McDonald declared that some years ago Guerin had insisted his wife to California and followed upon receiving sums of money from her. Physicians after an examination of the woman declared her insane.

In the lower part of the building when the shooting occurred were two police officers, on their way to Guerin's office to investigate his business, concerning which complaints had been made to the police. It was claimed by several people that Guerin had been demanding exorbitant sums of money for making enlargements of photographs and threatening legal proceedings if the amount was not immediately forthcoming. These officers placed Mrs. McDonald under arrest. Inside the office the furniture was thrown around as though a struggle had taken place, and Guerin was lying dead on the floor with a bullet wound back of one ear.

Weems and the Cherry Tree Tale

George and the Hatchet Episode

By ROBERTUS LOVE

(Copyright, 1907, by Robertus Love.)

FOLLOWING is the original cherry tree and hatchet story, faithfully copied from the 1899 edition of Parson Weems' "Life of George Washington." With Curious Anecdotes, Equally Honorable to Himself as to His Young Countrymen." The author prefaces the anecdote with a brief paragraph, in which he says "it is too valuable to be lost and too true to be doubted." The famous story begins on page 13 of the book. An old woman tells it.

"When George," said she, "was about six years old, he was made the wealthy master of a hatchet of which, like most little boys, he was immoderately fond; and was constantly going about chopping every thing that came in his way. One day, in the garden, where he often amused himself hacking his mother's pea-sticks, he unluckily tried the edge of his hatchet on the body of a beautiful young English cherry-tree, which he hacked so terribly, that I don't believe the tree ever got the better of it. The next morning the old gentleman, finding out what had befallen his tree, which, by the way, was a great favorite, came into the house; and with much warmth asked for the mischievous author, declaring at the same time, that he would not have taken five guineas for his tree. Presently George and his hatchet made their appearance. 'George,' said his father, 'do you know who killed that beautiful little cherry tree yonder in the garden?' That was a tough question; and George staggered under it for a moment; but quickly recovered himself; and looking at his father, with the sweet face of youth brightened with the inexpressible charm of all-conquering truth, he bravely cried out, 'I can't tell a lie, Pa; you know I can't tell a lie. I did cut it with my hatchet.' 'Run to my arms, you dearest boy,' cried his father in transports; 'run to my arms; glad am I, George, that you have killed my tree; for you have paid me for it a thousand fold. Such an act of heroism in my son is worth more than a thousand trees, though blossomed with silver, and their fruits of purest gold.'

Is the immortal cherry tree story true or untrue? To believe or not to believe—that is the question. So far as the fair fame of George Washington is concerned, it does not matter an iota. That is fixed, a star of the first magnitude. Doubtless there are many good persons who trust fondly that little George hacked the tree with his hatchet and owned up. On the other hand, there are many equally good persons who, preferring to look upon Washington as a man rather than as a divinity and as a real boy rather than as an angel child, deep down in their hearts desire to believe that George never owned a hatchet, that there never was a cherry tree in Papa Washington's garden and that the hacking was a fabrication of a hack writer.

We know who first published the story. "Parson" Weems, Rev. Mason Locke Weems, one of Washington's earliest biographers, did that. But it seems that the story did not appear until the fifth edition of the parson's book, which was first published in 1800, two years after Washington's death, under the quaint title of "A

"HE UNLUCKILY TRIED THE EDGE OF HIS HATCHET ON A YOUNG CHERRY TREE." History of the Life and Death, Virtues and Exploits of General George Washington, Faithfully Taken From Authentic Documents.

Why, asks the prying critic, to whom no secular history is sacred, did not Mr. Weems include the several boyhood anecdotes in his first and other early editions? You may reply that perhaps he had not heard of the stories at that time. But the context of the book itself dispenses with that argument. Parson Weems distinctly states that both the cherry tree story and another anecdote showing the little George's goodness of heart, which also he relates, were told to him by an aged lady twenty years before the date of writing. This lady, he said, was a distant relative of the Washingtons and spent much time dur-

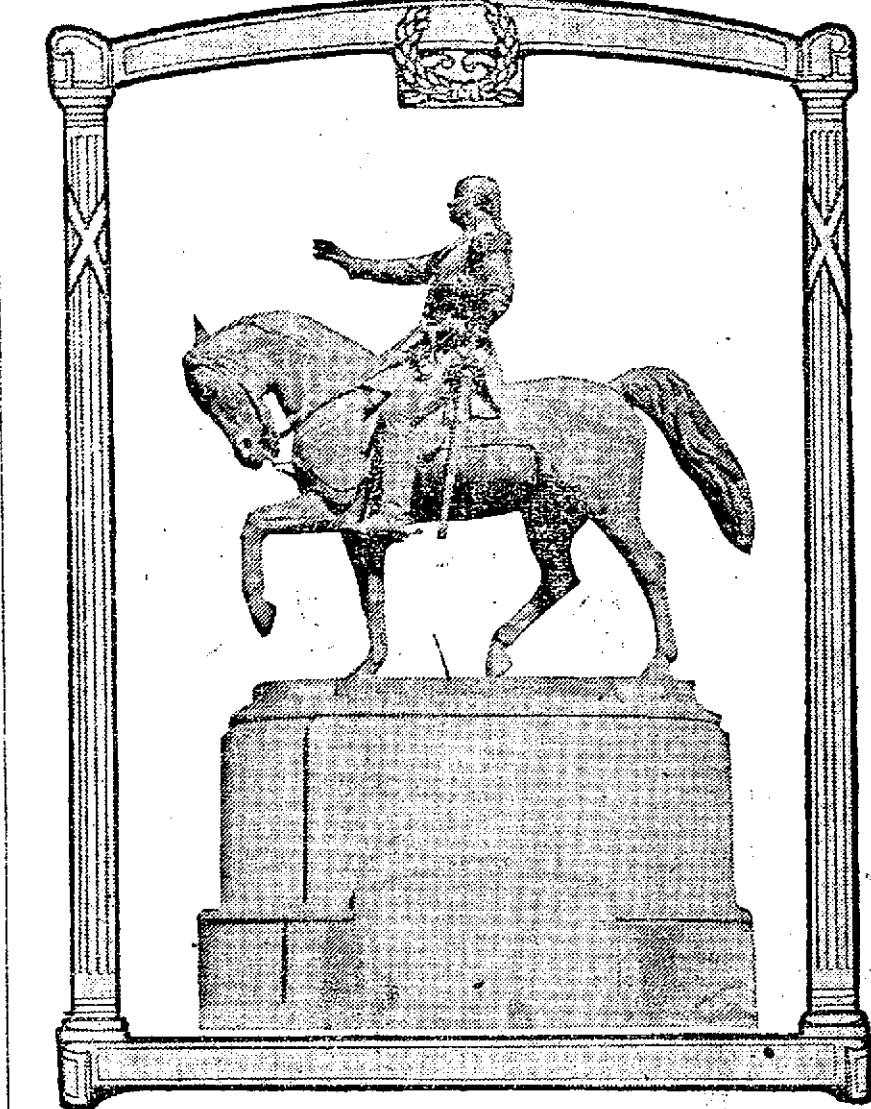

WASHINGTON, our Washington, again the rounding year
Brings back to us thy natal day, which ever grows more dear.

Aye, more and more we reverence thee, thou who didst build so well.
The story of thy matchless deeds sire unto son will tell.

WASHINGTON, our Washington, we see thee kneeling there,
Amidst the snows of Valley Forge, with hands upraised in prayer.

The God of Battles heard thy call and succor to thee sent.
Through all those weary, anxious years his angel with thee went.

WASHINGTON, our Washington, be thou our guiding star.
As thou didst lead us in the past, still lead us from afar;

Still Father of thy Country be, guard and protect thy land.
And may the ship of state e'er feel thy wise and steadfast hand.

Thy body lies in sleep eterne, at rest forevermore.

But thy great soul lives on and on; more glorious grows thy fame,
And millions yet unborn will add their praises to thy name.

ing her girlhood at the family home opposite Fredericksburg, Va., where lay the orchard that grew the tree that was hacked by the hatchet that George had—if he had it.

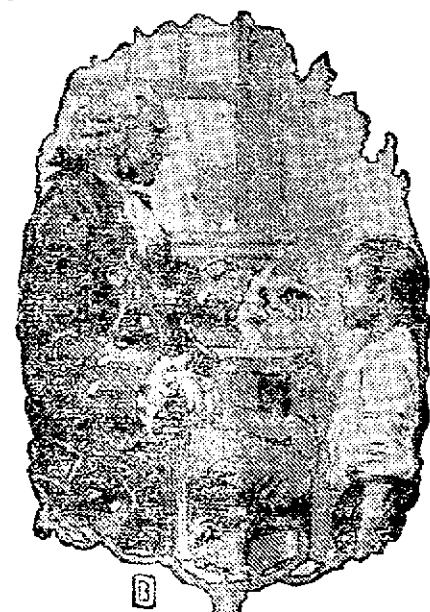

George Washington was born in 1732. The hatchet incident, happening when he was six, must date from 1738. Nearly seventy years passed before it got into print, yet for thirty years Washington had been a famous character. One is inclined to ask why Parson Weems didn't use the story in his earlier editions, since he says he had known it for twenty years. Moreover, why didn't he tell us the name of this distant kinswoman of Washington, since by his own admission he was writing the life of the "greatest man that ever lived?" Historians who write actual facts are eager to give authorities for their statements.

In his first edition the parson declared, right on his title page, that the matter of the book was "faithfully taken from authentic documents." When the several stories were inserted, however, we find the title page alluding to "curious anecdotes," with the reference to faithfulness and authentic documents altogether eliminated.

It is unfair to Parson Weems, however, to place him in comparison with historians. He was not a historian. He was an exhorter. In whatever he wrote he made a special plea. He set out with a fixed and definite intention, and, though altogether lacking in literary artistry, he heaved to the line until he reached "Finis." In the case of the Washington book his purpose was to place before the public, particularly before young Americans, a picture of a St. Washington, idealized, heroic, and, until very few attributes merely human were left. He succeeded, and his work pleased the public of his day and for many years thereafter. More than seventy editions of Weems' "Washington" were published during the nineteenth century. In 1837 Joseph Allen of Philadelphia purchased the copyright and brought out the "twenty-seventh edition, greatly improved," though Mr. Weems had been dead since 1825.

It can do no harm to give a brief account of Parson Weems' life. As the anecdotal biographer of Washington he is almost as interesting as Johnson's Boswell. He was born in Maryland about 1760, studied medicine, but gave it up to go to England and prepare himself for the Episcopal ministry. It appears that he found no bishop in London to admit him to holy orders. Returning to America, he was still worse off, as there was no Anglican bishop in the new world at that time. However, he finally became a preacher, though it is said that he cared little for creed, being willing to preach in a church of any denomination. He appears never to have held a regular pastorate. When he was about thirty years old, he became a book agent, selling books through Virginia for Matthew Carey, the Philadelphia publisher. He also began writing books himself and peddled his own works. The Washington life in particular had a great sale.

Parson Weems had a reputation as an amateur comedian and as one of the best fiddlers in Virginia. When he had no opportunity to exhort through sermons, he diverted the people through music and amusing antics. He was, it appears, a stern moralist and in many respects an admirable character. A credit to his period. As an author Mr. Weems cannot withstand the fierce light that beats upon literary criticism. His life of Washington is full of exclamation points and dashes, and in this respect, but assuredly in no other, it resembles Carlyle's "French Revolution." The whole book is filled with the kind of matter which an earnest, devout evangelist of his period might talk to a Sunday school class or preach from the pulpit. Long passages moralizing on incidents in Washington's career are sandwiched between the incidents.

Parson Weems was a prodigious producer. One of his own books which he peddled through Virginia was "The Drunkard's Looking Glass, Reflecting a Faithful Likeness of the Drunkard in Sundry Very Interesting Attitudes, With Lively Representations of the Many Strange Capers Which He Cuts In Different Stages of His Disease." Our Sherlock Holmes must infer from the length and burden of this title that the parson traveled about in a very stout buggy. This book had six editions by 1818. Another work was "The Bad Wife's Looking Glass, or, God's Revenge Against Cruelty to Husbands." As this had but two editions up to 1823, we must conclude that the ladies didn't take to it as they did to the drunkard's looking glass. "Hymen's Recruiting Sergeant, or, the New Matrimonial Tattoo For Old Bachelors," was even more popular, for it had seven editions by 1821.

CHANGE IN GULF STREAM.

Strange Conditions Probably Due to Jamaica Earthquake.

Startling deflections in the freakish gulf stream and strange phenomena existing in the Mexican gulf, believed to be an indirect result of the Kingston earthquake, were recently revealed in an official report from Captain John C. Soley of the gulf division of the hydrographic office at New Orleans, says the Kansas City Star.

The stream has moved many miles to the west, now passing close to the coast of Central America in one big circle, turning to the north and east, instead of keeping the sinuous line it formerly described. Before the quake the gulf stream ran close to the western end of Cuba, curving and winding its way toward the American coast from the south, then turning away to the east and passing out around the Florida peninsula to the northern waters along the Atlantic coast.

Captain Soley fixes the location of a vast pool of oil 200 miles off the Louisiana coast, directly south of the mouth of the Atchafalaya river. To a depth of four feet there is nothing but greasy fluid. Off the Florida coast a fresh water sea has been discovered. It is an extensive area of fresh water, surrounded by salt water. Eddying currents for hundreds of square miles keep this sea entirely different in color and quality from the gulf proper. Seaweed floats there and remains.

Galloping Ambulances.

The United States army medical officers are much impressed with the work which has been done with the galloping ambulance, a vehicle used in the British army and lately under test in the American service, says a Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune. Eight of these new ambulances, each to be drawn by a single horse, have been ordered by the quartermaster general and are to be sent to the various posts where cavalry troops are on duty. It is expected greater speed can be obtained with this vehicle than with any other type of ambulance, in addition to which quality it is so constructed as to withstand the shock and jar of rapid transit over rough country. One of these galloping ambulances will be sent to Cuba as soon as it is ready and will be subjected to severe tests in that island. The army surgeons, however, are perfectly satisfied that the galloping ambulance has come to stay and will hereafter form a part of the mobile equipment of the medical department in the field.

Ballad of Cold Storage Hen.

(Dr. Wiley says it is impossible to determine how many years some fowls have been in cold storage.—Press Dispatch.) My mother was a hen in the days of good old Socrates. At the tender age of ten I was stowed away in here to freeze, and in all these years, you see, that I've dwelt here in frigidum, I've acquired, naturally, a remarkable rigidity.

I've gathered through those years a repose that's full of dignity. And I never, oh, my dears, have descended to malignity! When a modern chick comes in, with his airs so full of silliness, I merely raise my chin in a patriarchal chilliness.

I have heard great kingdoms fall, like the smash of rare old pottery. And have heard the final call for great monarchs old and tottery. And yet through every age, while goes on the march historical, Do I gaze, calm as a sage, upon life phantasmagorical.

Do not talk about the sphinx nor the obelisks and pyramids. I make those ancient links look as youthful as a bunch of kids. Perhaps from my retreat there will come a time of severance. But meantime, I repeat, you should treat me with due reverence.

How Alcohol Works.—A patient was arguing with the doctor on the necessity of taking a stimulant. He urged that he was weak and needed it. Said he: "But, doctor, I must have some kind of a stimulant. I am cold and it warms me." "Precisely," came the doctor's answer. "See here. This stick is cold," taking up a stick of wood from the box beside the hearth and tossing it into the fire. "Now it is warm, but is the stick benefited?" The sick man watched the wood first send out little puffs of smoke and then burst into a flame, and replied: "Of course not. It is burning itself." "And so are you when you warm yourself with alcohol. You are literally burning up the delicate tissues of your stomach and brain."

ROCKEFELLER HAS BEEN MALIGNED

Oil Magnate's Wealth Does Not Exceed the Paltry Sum of $300,000,000.

New York, Feb. 22.—The magnitude of John D. Rockefeller's fortune was developed in an inquiry here on Thursday. In reply to a question, Frederick T. Gates, Mr. Rockefeller's business representative, said:

"There have been a great many amusing misstatements on this subject. Several years ago Senator Hoar in the Senate, credited Mr. Rockefeller with a fortune of a thousand million of dollars. Quite recently a statement has been made and published widely throughout the country that his annual income exceeds one hundred millions of dollars.

"Now the facts are that Mr. Rockefeller has at various times himself authorized a statement that his fortune cannot exceed two hundred and fifty to three hundred millions of dollars. Furthermore, his income, instead of being one hundred millions of dollars, or anything like it, cannot, in his most prosperous year, have exceeded fifteen to twenty millions of dollars.

"The public generally are under the impression that he owns a majority of the Standard Oil stock. The facts are that Mr. Rockefeller's holdings of Standard Oil stock are about 20 per cent."

Sore Throat Not a Trifling Ailment
Almost every one has had sore throat—will have it again. It is one of our most common ailments and because it, in itself, is not fatal, is too often looked upon as a small matter, requiring little or no attention.

On the contrary it is a very serious affection because every person with Sore Throat is in danger of Tonsillitis, Quinsy, or Diphtheria and other serious maladies. In fact these diseases are almost invariably preceded by Sore Throat.

The air we breathe, the food we eat, the liquids we drink all pass through the throat and if that is diseased, infection is quickly carried to every part of the system. To cure a Sore Throat often means to prevent Diphtheria or one of the other more serious throat diseases. Curing Sore Throat is TONSILINE'S special mission. It is made for that—advised for that—sold for that one purpose. TONSILINE is the one and only Sore Throat cure which is sold over a large part of the United States.

TONSILINE is so well and so skillfully prepared as a Sore Throat cure that the first dose always gives decided relief and a few more doses cure.

Remember—Sore Throat is Nature's danger signal. Keep TONSILINE in the house and be on the safe side of Sore Throat.

Saved My Life.
Is the statement of Mr. John Wilson, of Washington, Pa. He writes: "That after lying in bed for eight long months and having an expert doctor on chronic disease from Philadelphia, treat me. I did not receive any benefit until as a last resort friends prevailed on me to try Dr. Jackson's Remedies. After two weeks treatment I could sit up in bed and in six weeks I was able to be down stairs on crutches. Now I am well and hearty and weigh 225 pounds. I want all to know that Dr. Jackson's Digestive and Liver Powders and other Remedies saved my life, and as a reward have sent him hundreds of patients in the last year."

Mr. Wilson had indigestion in the worst form and was brought on by fast eating, irregular meals, overwork, nervousness and a general break-down, and after a few months was a mere skeleton. (Doctors starved him).

DR. JACKSON'S DIGESTIVE AND LIVER POWDERS
cured Mr. Wilson by giving him good nutritious food and then properly digesting it and not allowed to lay in the stomach and ferment. Our Blood and Nerve Tonic tuned his nerves, acted on the kidneys and brought appetite, the Liver and Bowel Tonic regulated the bowels. Our Digestive and Liver Powders contain every ingredient in the proper proportions to digest a hearty meal and being in powder form they dissolve and absorb as they reach the stomach and give immediate relief. If you are in doubt about our statements write to Mr. Wilson, 1900 Jefferson Ave., Washington, Pa.

His Absent Ducl Mind.
The Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar, who is the next heir of Queen Wilhelmnia, is a wealthy young prince, twenty-eight years of age, unmarried and has in Germany a reputation for perpetrating "bullies." Once while visiting a public school he noticed two boys of striking similarity in appearance.

"Why, what a remarkable likeness!" he exclaimed. "These lads must surely be twins!"

"Yes, your royal highness," remarked the principal, and he beckoned the two frightened youngsters to him.

"Ah," said the prince, placing his hand on the head of one of them, "what is your name?"

"Heinrich."

"And how old are you?"

"Six," answered the boy.

"And you?" he said, turning to the other lad.—Harper's Weekly.

In truth, fine skins have been treed and caught, and score in a night, by people who know the way to go about it.

ADAMS HAS DICK'S ENDORSEMENT

Washington, Feb. 22.—The candidacy of J. J. Adams of Zanesville for judge of the Southern district of Ohio, which position has just been created by congress, took on a curious phase yesterday.

Senator Dick and Representative Longworth called at the White House with the endorsements of Judge Adams and presented them to President Roosevelt.

The latter, however, said he would make no decision in the matter until the merits of all the candidates have been given careful consideration.

Today a delegation from the Southern district of the state will call at the White House and present the claims of John E. Stator of Columbus for the position.

Edward N. Huggins of Columbus is in the city in the interest of Mr. Stator. The prevailing opinion in Washington seems to be that Adams will land the plum.

IRON TRADE REVIEW

Cleveland, O., Feb. 22.—The Iron and Trade Review today says: Ten days remain of the month's continuance of the present freight rate between Birmingham and the Ohio river granted by southern railroads. At the time the postponement was announced it was intimated that a united effort would be made during the following 30 days to move the iron that had accumulated on furnace yards. In the three weeks that have elapsed there has been no distribution commensurate with the gravity of the situation. Stocks on furnace yards in the Birmingham district are greater today than they were at the opening of the month. The effort of the railroads, if any was made, has been a signal failure. Despite frantic appeals of officials of all the furnaces in the affected district, the supply of cars has been wholly inadequate. Furnaces are not moving their daily output, much less the accumulated tonnage. For ten days past one producer with a stock of 30,000 tons and a daily output of 1,150 tons, reports that it has had an average of only one car a day from all the railroads in the district. Another large maker states that for three weeks it has not received a single car from the largest trunk line in the south. Others report that the only cars received were those consigned to them loaded with freight. These are not isolated instances, but in one form or another, the car shortage is the substance of every report from the south. Under the circumstances it is futile to expect early relief from the present congestion.

The demand for finished material is unabated. Daily sales continually exceed the daily output. Specifications on mills are the heaviest in history, but instead of overtaking them, producers are steadily falling further behind. Jobbers are having trouble in replenishing their stocks; and because of the uncertainty of mill shipments, they are forced to the resource of picking up odd lots wherever obtainable. The only price changes is in boiler tubes, which have been advanced two points, or $1 a ton on base sizes. Pig iron is with-

AMUSEMENTS

WHY SHE DESIGNS HER GOWNS.
The very fetching gowns worn by Miss Florence Gear in "The Marriage of Kitty" which will be seen at the Auditorium on Friday matinee and night, are all made from her own designs. "I have come to the conclusion," says Miss Gear, "that every woman should design her own gowns. There is no other way to get your own individuality expressed and once lost that you might as well let some one else play your role. I remember once playing a very strong part in New York and nearly making a fizzle of it because of my costumes. I had but very little time to learn my words, let alone looking after my gowns, and was persuaded by a fashionable dressmaker in the city to let her make all the robes for me. Everything went well at the fittings and I was congratulating myself that I had found a treasure in my new modiste. The night of the performance came and so did the gowns. I pledge you my word that if that woman had the greatest grudge against me in the world she couldn't have done me a meaner trick. The things were very handsome and imposing, but they out attraction. There is neither art, lety nor undue haste to sell. The dullness is especially marked for the last half. Values are unchanged, not enough tonnage having been placed to move the market either upward or downward. Scrap is without improvement, and prices are lower.

After an absence of many months from the market, the United States Steel Corporation has placed an order aggregating 9,500 tons of low phosphorus pig iron for delivery in June, July and August. The purchase is not of great importance, but is sufficient as showing that the corporation stacks are needed for ordinary grades, and cannot be spared to make the low phosphorus iron which is used in the manufacture of armor plate.

"DINNER'S COMING --I SMELL IT"

Does Your Stomach Feel Happy when Meal Time Comes?

When you sniffle in the air the appetizing aroma of something cooking, do you feel that you could sit down, open your mouth, pin back your ears and eat with a delicious gusto, everything set before you, and not feel any bad effects from it?

In other words, can your poor stomach take care of everything and anything you put into it? There are thousands and thousands of people who do not know what it is to have a good, strong, healthy stomach, nor do they realize what it is to have a good appetite.

You can have an all powerful stomach and a fetching appetite for every meal, and every day, if you give your stomach a rest, and let something else take hold of your food for you and digest it as it comes into the stomach, something that is harmless but that really does the work of digesting, quickly and thoroughly.

This "something" is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the most effective little tablets in the world for curing anything that may be wrong with your stomach. One ingredient of these precious little workers digests 3,000 grains of the coarsest or richest food put into the stomach. Think of it, 3,000 grains! They are really an artificial stomach, because they act just like the stomach, they digest your food, just as though you didn't have a stomach at all. It supplies the stomach with the digestive juices which have become weak and scanty.

Then your indigestion, dyspepsia, sour risings, brash, belchings, acidity, fermentation, loss of appetite, aversion to food, bloaty feeling, heartburn and nausea, will be no more. You can then eat anything you want, all you want, whenever you want, and your stomach will feel fine before and after your meals. Your appetite will be a thing of pleasure to have, your meals will be a pleasure to eat, and your digestion will be thorough and soothing to the whole body.

You can't do your work well, or be cheerful, or have energy or vim, or ambition, when your stomach is bad. Make yourself feel good after a hearty meal, feel good all over, clear your mind and make you enjoy life, by taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Give your stomach a rest, so it can right itself, then you need fear nothing. Send us your name and address today and get a free sample package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by return mail. After you have tried the sample, you will be so thoroughly convinced of what they can do for you that you will go to your nearest druggist and get a 50c box of them.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address: F. A. Stuart, Co., 59 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

me—than the coat of the leading man. I tried to play my part and only succeeded in reading my lines. I felt that I was masquerading throughout the play. The next day I ripped and sewed and planned and arranged, and after spending the entire day at Madame's I came to the theater tired out but triumphant. I had impressed myself on every one of those four gowns and played the part as it should be played. Since then I am very careful to plan everything I am to wear, not only the dresses, but the hats, gloves, umbrellas, and am guilty of having that handbag made for me because I could not find anything ready made in all New York to fit in with the character."

THE LITTLE HOMESTEAD.
The blind infatuation which turns a wife from her fireside beside her loving young husband to go forth to misery and abuse with an unscrupulous scoundrel, brings about all the sorrow and happiness in the dramatic story told by "The Little Homestead," which will be the attraction at the Auditorium for matinee and night on Saturday. All the repentance and remorse of a woman who has sinned once against her home, her husband and herself is shown in the simple character of the wife, who sees through her blinded eyes when too late to atone. The dying pleas for forgiveness and the unselfish response of the husband, strike to the heart. The just retribution for his sins which fell upon the destroyer of the home, is a fitting climax to a malignant life.

VIRGINIA HARNED IN CAMILLE.
"Camille," in which Virginia Harned is to be seen here gives that delightful and distinguished actress a rich opportunity to wear beautiful gowns and she is rather famed for her really out of the ordinary exquisite dressing, she takes full advantage of it. In the first act she has rather an odd conceit for Camille—to dress her entirely in black. She wears a decollete gown made entirely of petted fringe hung on the softest of liberty satin. It outlines every curve of the figure as the wearer moves about and is considered by Doucet, the famous French dress architect, as quite the most graceful efforts he has achieved in the way of an evening gown. With this unusual dress is worn a superb dog collar of pearls and diamonds with a really exquisite tiara of the same precious stones. It may not be generally known that Miss Harned is the possessor of one of the finest collections of jewels on the dramatic stage owing to the fact that her husband, E. H. Southern, is most lavish in loading his wife with beautiful gifts and they always take the form of jewels for her personal adornment. Miss Harned will be seen at the Auditorium, Monday, Feb. 25.

AT THE ORPHIUM.
Beside the work of the Pords, who are given favorable mention on another page, the bill at the Orphium this week is making a great hit. Stevens and Keeley's act is winning rapidly. "Ain't it Warm" Stevens has sneezed so much this week that he has a bad cold. Nevertheless he is warmly received by the audience. Miss Keeley's attractive face and figure and good rendition of the catchy "Virginia" song, make a pleasing feature of the act. Lydell and Butterworth are inimitable in their jolly double black face turn and are making a great hit. Lydell's dancing is exceedingly clever. Seymour sisters sing their Irish-Indian love song and do some neat dancing which is pleasing markedly this week, while Ethel Place's pretty song "After They Gather the Hay," is beautifully sung and is really the best she has put on at the Orphium.

When your money and friends have departed it is just the right time to set up and go to work.

The undertakers in several eastern cities are doing the best they can to ignore the increased cost of living less burdensome. They've raised the price of funerals.

When the Silhouette Was Popular

A Sketch of Washington's Time

By WALTER J. JANES

[Copyright, 1907, by C. N. Lurie.]

WASHINGTON. Country and of the other important figures of his time would have been lost to posterity. There existed, however, one poor makeshift or substitute for the photograph. That was the silhouette. Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, Thomas Paine and other illustrious builders of the republic are preserved to us in silhouette, and even though there had been no painters to portray their likenesses, these simple makeshifts would have given us a fairly adequate representation of their profiles.

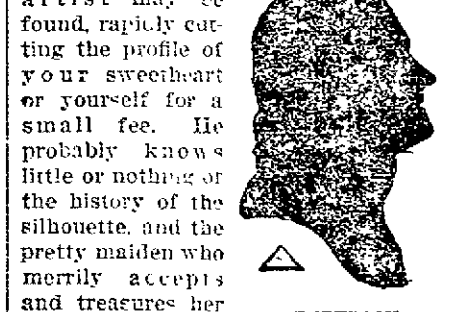

The silhouette itself is scarcely older than the American republic. It originated in 1757. Etienne de Silhouette, a Parisian banker, was responsible for both the name and the thing. Personally, however, he had nothing to do with it. The good monsieur was made minister of finance for the French monarchy in 1757. Finances were in a very bad condition. Foolish war and incompetent ministers, not to speak of inordinate extravagances throughout the king's court, had reduced France to a pitiable state.

Banker Silhouette was called to the financial ministry in the hope of solving the problem of extricating France from her poverty. He was wise and prudent. He believed in saving rather than in extravagance. He urged economy upon all the king's courtiers, as well as upon the government officials. This was too much for the reckless, plunging aristocracy. The high fliers of French society laughed loud and long, and they determined to carry out M. de Silhouette's advice by a resort to burlesque. Accordingly they economized by wearing coats without folds or ruffles, using snuffboxes made of plain wood and wearing hats without rosettes. Those who had been patronizing portrait painters turned to the "shadow picture" in sheer ridicule. The shadow picture was the profile cast by the subject on a wall by a certain arrangement of the lamps. The tracing of this shadow outline and its cutting out in black paper and pasting over writing paper resulted in a profile likeness. Later some "artists" grew so proficient that they could cut profiles without the aid of the shadow tracing, making them life size or in miniature at will. These pictures were called silhouettes, being "a la Silhouette" because they represented strict economy.

A hundred years ago and more the silhouette was exceedingly popular. Scarcely anybody was too poor to pay a strolling artist for cutting a silhouette. Much less than a hundred years ago the silhouette was still popular. There was no family album then. It was too early even sixty years ago for the family album, which now we are disposed to look upon as old fashioned.

The very first sunlight photograph ever made in the world, Miss Dorothy Catherine Draper of New York being the subject, was taken by Professor John W. Draper in 1840, and it was nearly twenty years thereafter before photography became really practicable. Thus the modest silhouette reemerged what may be termed the poor man's picture until times well within the memory of many persons now living.

Today the silhouette is merely a curiosity. At some of the summer resorts, at county fairs and expositions an occasional silhouette artist may be found, rapidly cutting the profile of your sweetheart or yourself for a small fee. He probably knows little or nothing of the history of the silhouette, and the pretty maiden who mortally accepts and treasures her profile in black on a white ground as a "souvenir" of the occasion is unaware that such great men as Washington and Jefferson actually "sat" seriously for their silhouettes generations before the amateur photographer nibbled the earth, with his propensity for taking snapshots at everything, from a pug pup to a president.

JEFFERSON.

BIG WEDDING PRESENT.
Charles M. Schwab's Bridal Gift to His Sister to Be $2,000,000.
Two million dollars will be Charles M. Schwab's wedding gift to his sister, Miss Gertrude Schwab, when she marries David Barry of Johnstown, Pa., says a Pittsburgh special dispatch to the New York World. The date for the wedding has not been fixed absolutely. It will be soon after Easter and naturally on a date when the former president of the steel trust can attend.

Miss Schwab, well known in New York, was recently at the Hotel Schenley in Pittsburgh with Mr. Barry, his sisters, Miss Ella and Miss Catherine Barry, and Dr. P. J. McAneny, all of Johnstown. The party went to Pittsburgh for the annual ball of the Columbus club at the Conservatory of Music, held the other night. At the ball the rumor spread that Mr. Schwab would give his sister $2,000,000 to start house-keeping. So large is the sum that many who heard the rumor doubted it, but inquiry dispelled their doubts.

"Yes, Gertrude is the best brother any girl in this world ever had. Oh, he's just too good to me for anything! I wish he was here to see how I am enjoying myself!" exclaimed Miss Schwab as she joined the Misses Barry in an automobile and went shopping. She is buying many articles for her trousseau in Pittsburgh and says patriotically:

"I can buy fine enough gowns in Pittsburgh and New York without going to London and Paris."

Miss Schwab looks much like her generous brother, who is devoted to her. She is plump, not very tall, with hazel eyes and fine chestnut hair. Her manner is vivacious and her laugh catching.

Mr. Barry is perhaps forty years old, the cashier of a Johnstown bank and therefore accustomed to handling money. He is not wealthy, nor is he poor. Miss Schwab had some business at the bank and there first met its agreeable cashier. They fell in love. Her brother highly approves of the match, as is proved by the splendid dot he gives his sister.

She lives with her aged parents at Loretto, Pa., in the comfortable home which "brother Charlie" built for them near his fine estate, where he spends a part of the summer. She passes much time in New York with her brother and his wife and has accompanied them abroad.

FUEL FAMINE HARDSHIPS.
Farmers on Canadian Border Burning Their Houses to Keep Warm.

Telegrams from the Canadian border just north of the North Dakota boundary show that a grave condition prevails there owing to the fuel famine and the blockade of railroads, says a St. Paul special dispatch to the New York World. Three families of new settlers have merged their effects into one household while the homes of the remaining two are being torn down and burned to keep the families from freezing. The plan has been adopted by scores of farm families.

Where grain was not shipped it is being burned as fuel, but wheat makes a poor fire unless used with wood, and it has been necessary to burn fence posts and barns, while cattle have either been killed for fuel or turned loose on the prairies.

A telegram from Craik, Saskatchewan, says Charles Cole, a farmer, came in to town for coal after burning every stick of lumber on his place and when he found he could get no fuel cried like a child, saying he had nothing to burn now but his wagon. He finally took back with him a load of corn.

A Royal Joker.
A writer in Harper's Weekly tells an amusing tale of Spain's twenty-year-old king, who appears therein in a character of a royal joker. Every once in awhile, it appears, Alfonso drops unexpectedly into the unconventional in a way productive of much embarrassment to his entourage. His latest prank was played in the great cathedral at Leon, to which, with his queen, he recently paid an unofficial visit. He had gone alone into the organ loft and had begun to play a chant—for Alfonso's education has made of him an organist of ability as well as a linguist—when, with no warning whatever, he switched off into a brisk military march, at the same time calling out in a loud voice: "Attention! Quick step. Forward!"

Priests and suit were for the instant too surprised to do anything but gasp, and the next minute there sounded again the solemn strain of the chant, with the laughter of the king heard beneath it.

An Automobile Railway.
In Columbus, Ind., there is the only concrete automobile railway in the world. As yet, however, it is only a miniature, but as soon as the inventor, the Rev. Z. T. Sweeney, fish and game commissioner of Indiana, can interest sufficient capital he expects to build an experimental line just outside Columbus, says the Motor World. The plan is to build a concrete roadbed, in the center of which will be a concrete guide rail twelve inches wide and twelve inches high. Each car will be fitted with two small auxiliary wheels to prevent it from leaving the track. If the scheme gets beyond the experimental stage, the automobiles will be built to carry fifty passengers and to also haul a trailer.

JAMES MILLS LOST BET WITH FORD

The Handcuff Expert at the Orphium Released Himself From a Canvas Straitjacket.

An unusually large audience was drawn to the Orphium Thursday night by the announcement that Don Ford, the handcuff expert, would attempt to remove a straitjacket within a half hour in accordance with the terms of a wager with James Mills of the Mills Auto company, East Church street. The audience was not disappointed in seeing Mr. Ford perform the feat successfully, thus winning Mr. Mills' $50 wager together with $20 placed by a prominent professional man of the city.

After introducing Miss Ford who performed some very puzzling turns with handcuffs belonging to Sheriff S. L. Redman, and Chief of Police James Sheridan, before a committee of policemen, newspaper men and others, Mr. Ford began the straitjacket feat.

The jacket, furnished by Mr. Mills, was most securely fastened upon the performer by Mr. M. F. Evans, a former attendant at McMillen's Sanitarium and Hospital for the Insane at Shepards, O., a short distance out of Columbus.

According to the time kept by Police Officer Swank of the committee, it took Mr. Ford just 14 3-4 minutes to free himself from the jacket. On a similar wager in Northern Ohio last week he succeeded in getting loose within eight minutes.

Three times during the few minutes the performer was forced to gasp for his breath, and when, finally, he succeeded in completely removing the jacket, he fell exhausted on the stage floor, the veins standing out thick and perspiration streaming down his face. He was encored for several minutes during and after the struggle. Because of the fact that possibly 300 persons were turned away on Thursday night, special arrangements have been made by Manager Paul whereby Mr. Mills' straitjacket is to be used and Mr. Ford will repeat the act at the first performance tonight.

SKATES 5 MILES IN 25 MINUTES

FREDDIE FITZGERALD WON $20 GOLD PIECE BY WINNING FIVE MILE RACE.

Winner Challenges Any One in Newark For Two or Five Mile Skating Race.

Freddie Fitzgerald, Newark's star skater, won the five mile skating race at the Crescent Rink last night, finishing the distance of five miles in 25 minutes and 39 seconds. Fitzgerald finished about one lap ahead of his opponent, Harry Lake, and by so doing won the cash prize of $20 in gold offered to the winner of the race.

Before the contest, it was announced that the winner of the race would challenge any one in the city for a race of 2 or 5 miles for any purse mentioned.

Last night's race was exciting and was witnessed by a large crowd of people.

JUDGE LINDSEY WILL COME AGAIN

MRS. M. A. SWAN ANNOUNCES THAT PLANS ALREADY BEING FORMED FOR VISIT.

He Writes of His Disappointment at Not Being Able to Talk to the Boys.

Newark people who were unable to get a look at Judge Ben B. Lindsey, or who did not get to hear his address at the Auditorium last Friday night, will have another opportunity in the not far distant future.

Mrs. Mary A. Swan, who made it possible for Judge Lindsey to visit Ohio, announced Thursday that she had commenced arrangements to bring the Judge back to Newark soon and that if possible he would be secured for three lectures. It is intended if possible to get the speaker to address two audiences of boys and girls during the morning and afternoon, and then the audience of older people during the evening.

Judge Lindsey, in writing to Mrs. Swan, expressed his regret that he did not go to talk to the boys and that he did not get to meet more of them. He expressed his great disappointment at not being able to reach Newark sooner, his failure to do so causing him to miss a reception, which was not accorded him at every town where he spoke.

Mrs. Swan issues a statement showing how the money was expended for the lecture, that every one who donated can see where their money went. She collected $2425. All but $7.50 of this was listed in the papers before the date of the lecture. The expenditures were as follows:

Lecture and traveling expenses	$127.00
Rental Auditorium	70.00
Flowers	5.85
Postage	5.70
Advocate Printing Co.	1.00
Bucher Eng. Co. Lithone portrait Judge Lindsey	3.95
Case & Robinson, cartage on chairs	1.00
Prof. Schmidt	1.00
T. M. Edmiston	.50
Central Union Tel. Co.	.50
Western Union Tel. Co.	.50

This shows a balance of $76.52 in Mrs. Swan's hands and this amount will be applied to the expense of the Judge's next trip to Newark.

Contractor Debord's bid for the plumbing was $271. Work will be commenced on the job next Monday morning and will be rushed through as rapidly as possible.

COLGATE REFUSES ROCKEFELLER AID?

Boston, Feb. 22.—In an appeal for funds for the institution, Dr. Albert G. Lawson, general secretary of Colgate university, of Hamilton, N. Y., said Thursday night at a reunion of the New England alumni:

"Colgate university will not accept one cent of the $22,000,000 given by John D. Rockefeller for educational purposes, nor will any of his money go to any Baptist college, although Mr. Rockefeller is himself a Baptist."

Dr. Lawson somewhat qualified this statement later in his speech, when he remarked that he would accept the money although some western institutions might do so.

BLOOD POISON
CURE YOURSELF AT HOME
Most persons who are afflicted with this contagious Blood Poison hesitate to go to a physician for several reasons. In the first place the expense is heavy, and they know that the inevitable treatment will be mercury and potash, strong minerals that act with disastrous effects on the delicate parts of the system, and which do not, after all, really cure the disease. What they want is a safe, reliable treatment that can be taken at home and a perfect cure made of this poisonous disorder without unnecessary exposure or expense. Such a remedy is S. S. S.—it is the only medicine that goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and drives out the last trace of the poison so that there are no return signs of its return. It does not contain a particle of mineral in any form, but by removing the disease from the circulation builds up every part of the system by its fine vegetable tonic properties. S. S. S. attacks the trouble at its head and not only permanently cures the disease for the one afflicted, but so purifies the blood that future offspring is insured against infection. S. S. S. may be taken in the privacy of your home and a perfect cure made of this hateful and loathsome trouble. For the assistance of those who are curing themselves with S. S. S., we have prepared a special book on Contagious Blood Poison which contains instructions of great value to all blood poison sufferers. We will be glad to send a copy of this book free, and if additional instructions or advice are wanted, we will furnish it without charge.

COSHOCTON WON
IN EXTRA PERIOD
ANOTHER HOT CONTEST AT THE PALACE RINK THURSDAY NIGHT.
Fans Kicked on Referee's Decision, Which Lost Game for Newark Polo Team.
In one of the hottest games of the season, Newark was defeated in the polo game at the Palace rink Thursday night by the score of 2 to 1. At the end of the third period the score was a tie, making an extra period necessary. Six minutes overtime was played before Coshocton succeeded in caging a goal and winning the game. So fierce was the last period that the players for the two teams fought tooth and nail for the possession of the ball, even lying on the floor in their efforts to block and get possession of the rubber sphere. Halback Farmer of the Newark team, once secured the ball and carried it the full length of the floor and caged it, but the goal was not allowed by the referee. The polo fans swarmed on the floor, but no violence was attempted. The crowd was enthusiastic from the start and every play was followed closely. The last half dozen games at the Palace rink and in fact every time Coshocton has played Newark, the polo fans have become almost crazy with excitement. On Saturday night the fast polo team from Akron will play Newark at the Palace rink. Akron people are used to good polo games, being in the Eastern Ohio Polo league and the game at the Palace rink will be one of the best of the season. No doubt but that a big crowd will see the game.

Youngstown, Feb. 22.—At a meeting here Thursday it was decided by the baseball interests to form a $25,000 company to support the baseball team this season. A large part of the amount has been subscribed.

ZANESVILLE WILL APPEAL TO COURTS
Zanesville, Feb. 22.—The Zanesville baseball committee will fight for its claim on the Youngstown franchise through the courts. Such was the decision arrived at Thursday afternoon when the members of the committee held a meeting at the Hotel Rogge. An assessment was made on the stock for the purpose of paying the necessary expenses that would be incurred. F. A. Durban, general counsel of the B. and O., will be retained to conduct the legal fight. William C. Handshy has been appointed a committee of one to attend to the interests of the baseball organization. Baseball affairs are in a chaotic state in Zanesville just at the present time. Beyond the fight that is to be waged in the courts there has been nothing done. Many of the baseball men have lost interest in the securing of a franchise. It is rumored that a prominent member of the committee will visit a city in the O. and P. league early next week for the purpose of attempting to purchase a franchise. This was neither denied nor affirmed last night. Marty Hogan will arrive in the city some time Friday afternoon. He was in conversation with A. P. Rogge over long distance phone Monday afternoon and announced that he would be here. Marty says that he is through with baseball in Youngstown and would not manage a team there for $10,000. The Youngstown papers say that he has secured a position with A. P. Rogge and will make his home in this city.

DELL WANTS TO QUIT.
Wm. Delehanty, the clever shortstop of the Mansfield team says he will quit the game if he has to play with Mansfield. "Dell" will probably play at his old position on the Giants in spite of his statement.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, as new from our new improved formula, does not stain or color the hair even to the slightest degree. Gray hair, white hair, blonde hair is not made a shade darker. WHEN I AM GONE

By Byron Williams.

When I am gone
And other men are lying where I tried
To stem the billows of life's rushing tide,
If those who knew me best may pause
To toss
From memory but a rose upon the moss,
And say: "He strove with earnestness
Of heart
To do whatever was his given part,"
Then will I not have lived entirely vain,
And dying, will have left a sweet refrain—
When I am gone!

When I am gone,
If some true man, or buoyant hearted
soul,
May stop beside my grave to read the
scroll,
And reading, think of how I cheered the
weak,
Or helped the sick and weary climb the
bleak

And jagged stones to rest and hope anew,
Or soothed aught from stormy winds
that blew,
Then will my living have been right, indeed:
Replete with greatness in a world of
need—
When I am gone!

When I am gone
And in some quiet churchyard rests my
bier,
If she I love will there but drop a tear,
And gently say within her loving heart,
"He did the best he knew, the loyal
part"—
If she will miss me now and then somewhat,
And dwell upon small virtues not forgot,
And put aside the follies of my reign—
My living will not be completely vain!
When I am gone!

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

In view of an increase of wages,
cost of supplies and operation, there
is considerable discussion, at present,
to the effect that the railroads will
increase freight rates. The contention
is made that rates have been at practically a standstill for several years, and they as low as at any time
either in this country or elsewhere,
while expenses in almost every direction have increased. In discussing
the question of increasing the freight
rates on coal, the Roanoke, Virginia,
Evening World of February 9th, contained a very interesting editorial. It
was as follows:

"Increased Rates on Coal."

"The announcement that the bituminous coal carrying roads have decided to increase freight rates on
coal may probably cause complaint
by some people. But let us be generous in our judgment. It is a conceded fact that the cost of nearly everything has been materially advanced
in the last year or two, and a
study of the regular statement of business done by railroads throughout
the country discloses the fact that
while gross revenues from operation
have increased, there is almost a uniform diminution in net revenues.
There is, evidently a cause for this,
and it can be found in the increased
cost of operation. It has been only a

advanced the wages of employees ten
per cent, which of itself made a
heavy draft upon their reserves. It was done, however, because the former wages of these employees, based largely upon the actual cost of living
at the time the rates were fixed, had
lost a great part of their purchasing
power because of the advance in price
of all the necessities of life. The railroads responded to this advance
by an increase in wages.

"Not only have the railroads made
this advance in wages, adding greatly
to their expense account, but in nearly all the supplies essential to the
successful maintenance and operation
of a railroad, there has been a considerable advance in price, and the increased cost of every such article has
added to the expense of the company.
There has been no falling off in the amount of business done, but because
of the increased cost of conducting
the business, it has been done at less profit and the net revenue has been
proportionately decreased, or to state
it somewhat differently, the revenue
from business done was found to be getting too near the actual cost of conducting the business. When an individual in any business finds his
profits of more than enough to cover
actual expenses, he must either reduce expenses or charge more for what he has to sell or go out of business. If expenses cannot be reduced, or the
charge for what he sells cannot be
increased, and the profit just about
meets the expense, with nothing for

unforeseen contingencies, the time
has come for him to quit and try
something else. In the conduct of a railroad there are many losses which
cannot be foreseen, and the company
which did not aim to provide for all
such would act with little foresight.
Every individual or corporation engaged in business with the expectation of profit from the business, Railroads and all other corporations,
wisely and economically conducted,
have a right to make such charges as
will assure them a reasonable cause
of complaint of any advance in
freight rates which may be necessary
to assure such a profit. The advance
charge in coal freights is not fully
up to the advance in the necessary
expenses of the companies, and
should give no cause for complaint."

TO PROTECT CROSSINGS

The Pennsylvania lines west and the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroads have
let to the Union Switch and Signal
company, of Swissvale, a contract for
a complete interlocking switch and
signal plant to be installed at Canton,
Ohio.

The plant will be located at the
grade crossing of the two roads
which was the scene of a bad wreck
early in December, when the Pennsylvania special crashed into a freight train on the Wheeling & Lake Erie.

The plant will be controlled from
a central tower and will effectually
protect both roads in all directions
and will prevent a repetition of the last disaster. The contract calls for all the necessary switches, signals
and electrical work in the tower necessary to operate the plant. The Pennsylvania lines at the crossing
are double tracked, while the Wabash
road is a single track line. The cost of the plant and its installation, as well as the operation of it, will be

100 "RACKETS" IN
TWO SHORT YEARSMRS. HELPHREY SAYS HUSBAND
STARTED PUSS EVERY WEEK
SINCE WEDDING.

Helphrey Says Mother-in-Law is at Bottom of Most of Her Domestic Troubles.

According to the testimony of Mrs.
Evelyn Helphrey in police court Friday morning, her husband has started over one hundred "rackets" since their marriage two years ago next
May. The mayor thought this was a little too much for the wife and
mother to stand, and fined the man
$10 and costs and threatened to put
him under a peace bond if he did not conduct himself in a more orderly manner at home. Helphrey blames
the whole trouble on his mother-in-
law, and admitted that he shook his fist under her nose at their home, 75
Riley street, Thursday night.

According to the testimony of Mr.
Franks, Helphrey's father-in-law, the
defendant came home drunk last
night, and because he failed to clean
his feet his wife offered a gentle re-
proof, whereupon, Helphrey became abusive and stated that he would do
as he pleased in his own house.

Further trouble an threats followed in which Helphrey used some
strong language and finally gave bent
to his rage by smashing a door panel
with his fist. Officers Moore and Lining were sent to the home after
Mr. Franks had come to the patrol station for help. On the way to the station house Helphrey told the officers that his father-in-law and mother-in-law were the cause of his family
troubles. He said he had been keeping them all winter.

KILL THE TROOPSCORRAL BOSS SAYS HE HEARD
CITIZEN DEMAND THAT AR-REST BE MADE.

And Also Saw an Aged Carpenter in
the Street Carrying a Winchester
Rifle.

Washington, Feb. 22—"Major, if
there is not an arrest made between
this hour and 11 o'clock, every enlisted man we see on the streets will be shot."

According to the testimony of Wil-
bert Vosschelle, formerly corral boss
at Fort Brown, before the Senate
committee on military affairs Thursday, this threat was made to Major Penrose, a commander of the negro
battalion, at about 5:30 p. m. August 13, several hours before the
"shooting up" of the town.

Vosschelle is white and is the man
who has been quoted by negro witnesses as saying that he learned of a plot to massacre the negro soldiers.

He was called to the stand at noon
yesterday and examined by Senator
Foraker. He testified that at 5:20
o'clock on August 13, he had gone to
the canteen to get his mail and while
coming out he met Major Penrose,
Mayor Combe and the quarantine officer at Brownsville, whose name he afterward learned to be Evans, make
the threat quoted.

The witness said that Evans was
excited and making wild gestures as he talked. Vosschelle said he understood that Evans was the husband of
the woman alleged to have been assaulted by a negro soldier on that
day.

Vosschelle, on cross examination,
contradicted the testimony of Wm.
Napp, a former member of Company
C, who claimed to have heard Vos-
schelle declare that he had been in
town the night before the shooting
and had heard of a plan to massacre
negro soldiers when they went to the negro saloon.

Vosschelle, after testifying that
white soldiers who preceded the negroes at Brownsville had had trouble
with the citizens, said that two days
after the shooting he met an old carpenter, familiarly known as "Dad,"
carrying a Winchester and who when asked by Vosschelle if he had been
hunting, answered "No; but we'll be
night before last."

San Antonio, Feb. 22—Herbert El-
kins, clerk in the Leahy Hotel at Brownsville, testified in the court
martial yesterday that he heard a negro say that night, "I'll come back
and finish the d—whites."

He told how, from his room in the rear of the Leahy Hotel on the second floor, he saw negroes come up
the alley and fire into the Cowen House. He positively identified them
as negro soldiers.

He saw from the window of the
room next to his, negroes firing from
the barracks galleries, and heard the roll call of Company B. Under cross examination he repeated his direct testimony.

HOW CAN I FORGET?

I remember, I remember,
When I was but a lad,
Down on the old plantation,
What jolly joys I had!

I used to milk the seven cows,
And swirl the sixteen motherly sows,
And give the eighteen horses oats,
And shuck the corn for thirty shoats,
And fork the hay for fifty head
Of cattle black and white and red,
And fodder seven hundred sheep
Each night before I went to sleep.

Ah, these were happy seasons
When I was but a boy,
I had so many reasons
For being gay and glad!

I used to rise at three o'clock
And feed the seven lots of stock
And chop eleven corn cobs good,
Before my appetite was good,
And after breakfast dig a ditch,
Till all my muscles were the twitch,
And hoe the cotton afterwards
Along with six or seven coons.

Oh, what a sweet existence,
How jammed with daily joy,
Away off in the distance,
When I was but a boy!

For even after supper time
Up in the loft I used to climb
And fork down for the pigs of hay
To feed the animals at day,
And after that—oh, perfect joy
For my happy heart a boy—
I turned the grain for the church repository
To sharpen forty-seven hoes.

I remember, I remember,
Those boyhood pleasures yet,
Down on the old plantation!
Ah, how can I forget?

For Nervous, Over-worked
and "Run Down" Women

Women in an exhausted, nervous state, due to over-work, continuous social functions or a general "run down" condition of health, often wonder why tonics and emulsions fail to benefit them. The reason is plain.
Tonics and emulsions are good in their place, but they cannot build up the body until the nerves have been toned and quieted.

There's only one remedy that can restore health to women in this exhausted, nervous condition, because it acts directly upon the nerves.

Rexall

Americanitis Elixir

is the only remedy of its kind in existence. As its name implies, it's a specific for the peculiar exhausted nervous conditions resulting from the continuous rush and tension under which Americans live. This remedy fills an important gap in the line of medicines.

Rexall Americanitis supplies to the body just those elements which Nature cannot supply in sufficient quantities to meet the unnatural drain upon the nervous system.

Phosphorus in soluble form is the basis of this splendid nerve food.
Thousands of women have been saved from nervous prostration by the prompt use of Rexall Americanitis. To all conditions of nervous derangement, exhaustion and debility it brings permanent relief.

Interesting Letter From the Village
Giving a Budget of Principal
Happenings.

Johnstown, Feb. 22—Mr. William Ashbrook, one of the oldest and most highly respected of the pioneer residents of Licking county, celebrated
the eighty-third anniversary of his birth at his home here on Tuesday,
when his children gathered at the old home to do honor to him. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. M.

P. Ashbrook and William A. Ashbrook
Jr. of Granville, Mr. and Mrs. J. L.
Moore of Puttala, and Mrs. C. E.
Garner of Lansing, Mich. "Uncle Billy" was born on the farm where
he has always resided. He is in good health and bids fair to reach the century mark. It is remarkable that there are three other citizens in Johnstown who are also 83 years old:
Tom Kussion, Asa Scovell and T. S.
Rompkins, and the former two, like
"Uncle Billy," were born in Johnstown and have always lived here.

Norman G. Buxton who has been in the past few years has been in the employ of the Ohio Fuel and Supply company leasing land and securing
the right of way, has accepted a position in the same capacity with the Hesley company of Newark. Mr.
Buxton is one of our Johnstown men,
and so successfully demonstrated his
ability in this line for the Ohio Fuel
that we feel the Hesley company is to be congratulated for having been able to secure his service.

Sherwood Blumer was called to Columbus Tuesday, who in connection
with others from various places in the state met as a committee before Ohio
State Board for the purpose of revising the premium list of the sheep department. The results of this meeting being, one new book of the B
class, and $60 premium added to each
book.

Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock
the two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs.
Harvey Bush living about three miles
east of town, drank some concentrated lye. Dr. C. A. Day was summoned at once and while the case is a very severe one it is hoped the little
one will recover.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gates returned to Johnstown Tuesday evening after
a wedding tour of month through
states in the south and west. They are visiting Mrs. Gates' father, Mr.
Peter Copland. Their many Johnstown friends are pleased to extend
hearty congratulations.

The many friends of Mrs. Ann
Stevens are pained to learn of her exhausted condition, she being unable to walk at all. Her extreme age considered it is hardly probable that she will ever be any better. Mrs. Ruth Leper is at present caring for her.

The Pythian Sisters conferred the degree upon Mr. and Mrs. Moll Clark on last Tuesday evening. There was
a splendid attendance and all present
were served to refreshments consisting of coffee, ice cream and cake.
Addie Pratt has recently sold his 140 acre farm four miles northwest of town to a Mr. J. J. J. of Putnam county, we understand the purchase
price being $50 per acre.

Mr. J. A. Rimmels is moved to his home in Johnstown from Emporia,
Kansas where he has been for some time on account of the illness and death of his sister Mrs. Zena Damm-bold.

The condition of Mrs. L. R. Hill
remains unchanged. She is still confined to her bed, being unable to walk. No hopes are entertained
by her friends for her recovery.

We Offer $1,000.

For a Disease Germ That Liquezone Cannot Kill.

This offer goes out with every bottle
of Liquezone. Do you suppose we would do that if any known germ
could resist it?

Liquezone is for those who believe
that a germ disease calls for a germi-
cide; that the germs must be killed
before the trouble can end. You have doubtless tried the old ways, and you know the results. We ask you to try
the new way; to try it at our expense.
Use what millions have used and learn
what they know about it. You are not fair to yourself until you do that.

What Liquezone Is.

Liquezone is a tonic-germicide, the
virtues of which are derived solely
from oxide gases. No alcohol, no narcotic, nothing but gas enters into it.
The process of making requires large
apparatus, and consumes 14 days'
time. The object is to combine the gases with a liquid as to carry their
virtues into the system.

The result is a germicide so certain
that we publish with every bottle an
offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that Liquezone cannot kill. It destroys them
because germs are of vegetable
origin. But to the body Liquezone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying.

That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poisons when taken internally. They are impossible, for

they destroy the tissues as well as
the germs. That is why medicine
proves so helpless in dealing with germ diseases. Liquezone, on the contrary, acts as a remarkable tonic.

We Paid $100,000.

For the rights to Liquezone, after
thousands of tests had been made with
it, after its power had been demonstrated for more than two years in the most difficult germ diseases. Conditions which had resisted medicine
for years yielded at once to it, and diseases considered incurable were cured.

That was five years ago. Since then
millions of people in every part of the
world have shared in the benefits of
this invention. Nearly every hamlet,
every neighborhood, has living examples of its power. Now we ask you to let it do for you what it did for them.

Germ Diseases.

Most of our sickness has, in late
years, been traced to germ attacks.
Some germs—as in skin troubles—directly attack the tissues. Some create toxins, causing such troubles as Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Kidney Disease
and nerve weakness. Some destroy vital organs, as in Consumption. Some
—like the germs of Catarrh—create
inflammation; some cause indigestion.
In one of these ways, nearly every serious ailment is a germ result.

Such conditions call for a germicide,
not for common drugs. Liquezone
does what other means cannot accomplish. And it is means to cling to old ways when millions of people know
a way that is better.

Korea is probably more responsive to missionary effort than any Oriental country. A Methodist missionary writes: "It is my honest conviction that had we the proper missionary force Korea would be a Christian nation in five or ten years."

In the eight years of our occupation we have sold the Philippines about $30,000,000 worth of American products and manufactures. In the years prior to 1899 we sold from $50,000 to $80,000 worth a year.

BLOOD POISON

CURE YOURSELF AT HOME

Most persons who are afflicted with this contagious Blood Poison hesitate to go to a physician for several reasons. In the first place the expense is heavy, and they know that the inevitable treatment will be mercury and potash, strong minerals that act with disastrous effects on the delicate parts of the system, and which do not after all really cure the disease. What they want is a safe, reliable treatment that can be taken at home and a perfect cure made of this horrible disease without unnecessary exposure or expense. Such a remedy is S. S. S.—it is the only medicine that goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and drives out the last trace of the poison so that there are no more signs of its return. It does not contain a particle of mineral in any form, and after removing the disease from the circulation builds up every part of the system by its fine vegetable tonic properties. S. S. S. attacks the trouble at its head and not only permanently cures the disease for the one afflicted, but so purifies the blood that future offspring is insured against infection. S. S. S. may be taken in the privacy of your home and a perfect cure made of this hateful and loathsome trouble. For the assistance of those who are curing themselves with S. S. S. we have prepared a special book on Contagious Blood Poison which contains valuable advice to all blood poison sufferers. We will be glad to send a copy of this book free, and if additional instructions or advice is wanted, we will furnish it without charge.

BOWSER'S HUMANITY.

Finds a Lost Boy In Street and Has an Idea He Will Adopt Him.

HIS KINDNESS IS MISPLACED.

[Copyright, 1907, by P. C. Eastment.]

"Well, what is it this time?" asked Mrs. Bowser as Mr. Bowser came home the other evening to dinner holding the hand of a very dirty and very ragged boy about six years old.

"Didn't you hear this child crying and wailing on the street?" he queried in reply.

"No, I didn't. There is so much noise all the time that I pay no attention to anything."

"Of course not. Half the population of the city can freeze and starve to death in front of the house, and you wouldn't concern yourself at all. Thank heaven that I was born with a heart."

"And what do you call this?"

"This is either a lost or an abandoned boy. I found him crouched against the fence and hungry and cold, and I have brought him in to succor him. He is so cold and exhausted now that he can't talk, but after dinner we will question him. He may have been sent out by his mother to beg a few pennies to keep his brothers and sisters from starving, or his discouraged and desperate father may have abandoned him to the tender mercies of the world. See that he has a plate at the table."

Mrs. Bowser took a closer look at the boy and smiled. The boy returned her look and seemed to be confused and uneasy.

"Are you trying to scare him to death?" demanded Mr. Bowser.

Boy Is Ravenous.

Mrs. Bowser did not answer, but led the way down to dinner and gave the boy a seat at the table and heaped his plate high with dinner. He was as ravenous as a young wolf, and after watching him for awhile Mr. Bowser said:

"Poor child! I suppose this is the first meal he has sat down to for many weeks. This place must seem like heaven to him."

"What are you going to do with him?" was asked.

"I don't know yet. He should be returned to his parents tomorrow if they can be found. If not, I may adopt him. One has only to glance at his face to see intelligence far beyond his years."

As the kid was cross eyed and snub nosed and flat faced, Mrs. Bowser couldn't see the intelligence part, but she made no comment, and directly Mr. Bowser continued:

"If this child is adopted and reared as he should be, who knows the goal he will ultimately reach?"

"That's true. He has begun well by reaching for about everything on the table."

"Never mind that. Of course he hasn't been brought up to have table manners. I wish you were more humane, Mrs. Bowser."

"I could pick up a dozen lost children a day, but I have no clothes or food for them."

Calls Wife Hard Hearted.

"If you were a millionaire the poor would be no better off for it. You are selfish and hard hearted. You have no sympathy for those in misfortune. Any evening I may come home and find a man, woman or child frozen to death in the vestibule."

"We might put a kerosene stove out there," she suggested.

Mr. Bowser turned red in the face and was about to say something decisive when the lost boy looked around for something more to devour, and not finding it, he picked up his plate and slammed it down on the floor and began to kick and yell.

"Here, what the devil is this?" shouted Mr. Bowser as he rose up. "Young man, what do you want?"

"Sunthin' 'eat," replied the boy.

"Something to eat? Good lands, but you have eaten more than three hired men could already! You may get something more by and by, but not now. We'll go up to the sitting room. Mrs. Bowser, why didn't you smile at him and speak a few motherly words?"

Mrs. Bowser took the boy by the hand and led him upstairs. On the way they passed the cat, and he gave her a vicious kick. As he reached the sitting room he walked over to the plano and began picking that and strutting. Mr. Bowser seized his arm and hauled him away and twisted him around and said:

"We mustn't judge him too harshly. He is hardly old enough yet to know whether we are his friends or enemies. Let it be a sad case that a child of his age is without a home, perhaps without a father or mother?"

Kicks at Bowser.

"Very sad, indeed, but still he ought to behave himself," answered Mrs. Bowser as the boy kicked at Mr. Bowser and just missed one of his shins.

"He will be all right as soon as he knows we are his friends. He may have a father who came home and beat him, and he has got in the habit of fighting back. Bubby, come here. Now look at me. I am your friend. I am going to give you more to eat and a warm bed to sleep in tonight. I like boys. Perhaps I shall adopt you and send you to school and let you live with me all the time. What is your name?"

"Cheese it!" impudently exclaimed the lad after a moment.

"What! What's that?"

"He said 'Cheese it,'" explained Mrs. Bowser as she laughed behind her hand.

"And you are giggling over it, of course! You can't understand that poverty and the want of human sympathy have made him what he is. Where do you live, sonny?"

"Rats."

"Hey, what do you mean by that? Don't you understand what I mean? What street do you live on?"

"Oh, come off!" answered the boy as he turned away to chase the cat back down in the basement.

Mrs. Bowser had to giggle. No woman could have helped it. The first giggle set Mr. Bowser's ears to working back and forth, and at the second he rose and shouted:

"Yes, giggle and giggle and giggle, and be hanged to you! You can't see that you are encouraging the child in his impudence. You are disappointed because he wasn't found dead of cold and hunger at the gate. The boy is all right, only he is afraid of you."

"Then I'll go upstairs and you may question him some more."

"Sonny," said Mr. Bowser after she had disappeared, "I want you to understand that I am your friend. I have some pennies in my pocket, and if you will tell me where you live I will give them to you. What is the street?"

"Taffy!" grinned the boy.

"Look here, you young cub, but you are inclined to be impudent. I want you to answer me straight or out you go. What is your name?"

Draws Him Over His Knee.

Mr. Bowser reached for him and drew him over his knee. He forgot all about adoption and human sympathy. He was about to perform the old fashioned spanking act when two things happened at once. The kid fastened his teeth in the humanitarian's leg with a grip like that of an alligator, and the front door bell rang, and somebody drummed on the glass panel of the door outside. The boy was twisted down on the floor and the bell answered. The callers were a man and a woman—man and wife. They were not yet inside the hall when the man brandished his fists and shouted:

"You old child stealer! Where is my boy?"

"Yes, you villain, where is our Peter?" added the woman.

"What does all this mean?" asked Mr. Bowser as he stared at them.

"It means that we live five doors above here and that tonight you enticed our little son into your house. What have you done with him? Where is he? Bring him out at once or I'll knock that bald head off your shoulders!"

Claws the Air.

"And if he can't I'm the woman who can!" added the wife as she clawed the air.

Before Mr. Bowser could get things straight the boy came running past him into his mother's arms and gave him a kick to be remembered by, and then the three fled down the steps. When Mr. Bowser shut the door and turned round Mrs. Bowser was on the stairs. A smile of human sympathy was on her face, and as he flourished his arms around and tried to utter words she softly said:

"Yes, I think it would be a good plan to adopt him, and I promise to try to be a mother to him!" M. QUAD.

Dummy.

"Now, Maria, how do those boys know we are going to a whist party?"—New York Herald.

A Little In Doubt.

"I suppose you are glad to see the interest your boy takes in his books."

"Yes," answered Farmer Corbissel. "I shouldn't be surprised if one of these days he knew as much as the college professors themselves. The only thing is that college professors don't look to me as if they got as much enjoyment out of life as a lot of people that haven't near as much knowledge."

LAVELL IS A COP.

JOHNSON SELECTS THE UMPIRE STAFF

President Johnson has just announced the American league umpire staff for this year. It will be made up of Jack Sheridan, Silk O'Loughlin, Tom Connolly, Tim Hurst, Billy Evans and Stafford, a New England league recruit.

These judges of play, as in former years, will be backed up to the limit by Johnson, who has always been an advocate of clean ball and sportsmanlike tactics.

ECHOES FROM MEETING

AE CLEVELAND WEDNESDAY

Charles Mischler, prime mover in the Sandusky proposition, was angry over the sudden turn of events from victory to defeat. But he is game and declared that work on the new grounds will proceed and an independent team put in the field to play Sunday games, as well as on holidays. This team will be in charge of Herman Schleman, who will begin picking his players at once.

Dan Koster and Frank Baumeister, who attended or expected to be present in the league rooms, were two sorrowful looking men last evening. "Here Erie has been worked to fever heat over O. P. baseball and now we are turned down, after we had been given assurances by President Morton and others that we could become members," remarked Koster. "We have to go back and tell them we are out. I cannot understand this league but I guess they will wish we were in before the season is over. They are talking of giving us first chance when some team weakens, but that will do us no good, for we cannot purchase our release from the interstate league at that time. We have had the opportunity to get out, but the O. P. league did not want us."

Herbert Corlett held a conference with Charles Morton in regard to an umpire appointee in the O. P., but Morton could not give him a definite answer.

After the magnates were through with their short session the board of directors held a meeting and named Maurice Snyder of Akron as chairman of the board. President Morton's bond was placed at $5,000, the same as last year, to be held in custody by the chairman of the board.

The following clubs were reelected at the meeting: Akron, J. Windor, W. E. Palmer, Maurice Snyder, Ben Campbell; Youngstown, Marty Hogan; New Castle, Scott Paisley, A. C. Hyde; Sharon, J. Mahony, J. Boyle; Mansfield, Paul Sturgess; Newark, J. R. Moser; Marion, T. R. Allen, Allen C. Staeger; Lancaster, W. E. Gray, Jimmy Breen.

Ed Bang of the Youngstown Telegram, was responsible for the forming of the stock company to retain the franchise. He had power to vote when Hogan decided to quit the game.

"DEL" WANTS TO QUIT.

Wm. DeLahanty, the clever shortstop of the Mansfield team says he will quit the game if he has to play with Mansfield. "Del" will probably play at his old position on the Giants in spite of his statement.

COSHOCTON WON IN EXTRA PERIOD

ANOTHER HOT CONTEST AT THE PALACE RINK THURSDAY NIGHT.

In one of the hottest games of the season, Newark was defeated in the polo game at the Palace rink Thursday night by the score of 2 to 1. At the end of the third period the score was a tie, making an extra period necessary. Six minutes overtime was played before Coshocton succeeded in caging a goal and winning the game.

So fierce was the last period that the players for the two teams fought tooth and nail for the possession of the ball, even lying on the floor in their efforts to block and get possession of the rubber sphere.

Haltback Farmer of the Newark team, once secured the ball and carried it the full length of the floor and caged it, but the goal was not allowed by the referee. The polo fans swarmed on the floor, but no violence was attempted.

The crowd was enthusiastic from the start and every play was followed closely. The last half dozen games at the Palace rink and in fact every time Coshocton has played Newark, the polo fans have become almost crazy with excitement.

On Saturday night the fast polo team from Akron will play Newark at the Palace rink. Akron people are used to good polo games, being in the Eastern Ohio Polo league and the game at the Palace rink will be one of the best of the season. No doubt but that a big crowd will see the game.

$25,000 COMPANY AT YOUNGSTOWN

Youngstown, Feb. 22.—At a meeting here Thursday it was decided by the baseball interests to form a $25,000 company to support the baseball team this season. A large part of the amount has been subscribed.

ZANESVILLE WILL APPEAL TO COURTS

Zanesville, Feb. 22.—The Zanesville baseball committee will fight for its claim on the Youngstown franchise through the courts. Such was the decision arrived at Thursday afternoon when the members of the committee held a meeting at the Hotel Rogge. An assessment was made on the stock for the purpose of paying the necessary expenses that would be incurred. F. A. Durban, general counsel of the B. & O., will be retained to conduct the legal fight. William C. Handsby has been appointed a committee of one to attend to the interests of the baseball organization.

Baseball affairs are in a chaotic state in Zanesville just at the present time. Beyond the fight that is to be waged in the courts there has been nothing done. Many of the baseball men have lost interest in the securing of a franchise. It is rumored that a prominent member of the committee will visit a city in the O. and P. league early next week for the purpose of attempting to purchase a franchise. This was neither denied nor affirmed last night.

Marty Hogan will arrive in the city some time Friday afternoon. He was in conversation with A. P. Rogge over long distance phone Monday afternoon and announced that he would be here. Marty says that he is through with baseball in Youngstown and would not manage a team there for $10,000. The Youngstown papers say that he has secured a position with A. P. Rogge and will make his home in this city.

WHEN I AM GONE

By Byron Williams.

When I am gone
And other men are trying where I tried
To stem the billows of life's rushing tide,
If those who knew me best may pause
To toss
From memory but a rose upon the moss,
And say: "He strove with earnestness
To do whatever was his given part,"
Then will I not have lived entirely vain,
And saying, will have left a sweet refrain—
When I am gone!

When I am gone,
If some true man, or buoyant hearted
soul,
May stop beside my grave to read the
scroll,
And reading, think of how I cheered the
weak,
bleak

And jagged stones to rest and hope anew.
Or should I aught from stormy winds
that blew.
Then will my living have been right, indeed.
Replete with greatness in a world of
need—
When I am gone!

When I am gone
And in some quiet churchyard rests my
bier,
If she I love will there but drop a tear,
And gently say within her loving heart,
"He did the best he knew, the loyal
part"—
If she will miss me now and then some-
what,
And dwell upon small virtues not forgot,
And put aside the follies of my reign—
My living will not be completely vain!
When I am gone!

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

In view of an increase of wages,
cost of supplies and operation, there
is considerable discussion, at present,
increase freight rates. The contention
is made that rates have been at
practically a standstill for several
either in this country or elsewhere,
while expenses in almost every direc-
the question of increasing the freight
rates on coal, the Roanoke, Virginia,
Evening World of February 9th, contained a very interesting editorial. It
was as follows:

"Increased Rates on Coal."
The announcement that the bituminous coal carrying roads have decided to increase freight rates on
coal may probably cause complaint
by some people. But let us be generous in our judgment. It is a conceded fact that the cost of nearly ev-
in the last year or two, and a
study of the regular statement of business done by railroads throughout
the country discloses the fact that
while gross revenues from operation
have increased, there is almost a uni-
form diminution in net revenues.
and it can be found in the increased
cost of operation. It has been only a

advanced the wages of employees ten
per cent, which of itself made a
heavy draft upon their reserves. It was done, however, because the company wages of these employees, based largely upon the actual cost of living
at the time the rates were fixed, had
lost a great part of their purchasing
power because of the advance in price
railroads responded to this advance
by an increase in wages.

"Not only have the railroads made
this advance in wages, adding greatly
to their expense account, but in nearly
all the supplies essential to the
successful maintenance and operation
of a railroad, there has been a considerable advance in price, and the increased cost of every such article has
added to the expense of the company.
There has been no falling off in the
amount of business done, but because
the business, it has been done at less
proportionately decreased, or to state
it somewhat differently, the revenue
getting too near the actual cost of
conducting the business. When an
profits of more than enough to cover
actual expenses he must either reduce
expenses or charge more for what he
expenses cannot be reduced, or the
increased, and the profit just about

unforeseen contingencies, the time
railroad there are many losses which
such would act with little foresight.
Every individual or corporation engages in business with the expectation of profit from the business. Rail-
roads and all other corporations,
wisely and economically conducted,
have a right to make such charges as
of complaint of any advance in
freight rates which may be necessary
charge in coal freights is not fully
up to the advance in the necessary
expenses of the companies, and
should give no cause for complaint."

The Pennsylvania lines west and the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroads have
let to the Union Switch and Signal
a complete interlocking switch and
Ohio.

The plant will be located at the
grade crossing of the two roads
which was the scene of a bad wreck
early in December, when the Pennsylvania special crashed into a freight
train on the Wheeling & Lake Erie.

The plant will be controlled from
a central tower and will effectually
and will prevent a repetition of the
last disaster. The contract calls for
all the necessary switches, signals
and electrical work in the tower nec-
Pennsylvania lines at the crossing
are double tracked, while the Wabash
of the plant and its installation, as
well as the operation of it, will be
borne jointly by the two roads.

May. The mayor thought this was a little too much for the wife and
$10 and costs and threatened to put
him under a peace bond if he did not
conduct himself in a more orderly
manner at home. Helphrey blames
the whole trouble on his mother-in-
law, and admitted that he shook his
fist under her nose at their home, 75
Riley street, Thursday night.

According to the testimony of Mr.
defendant came home drunk last
his feet his wife offered a gentle re-
proof, whereupon, Helphrey became
abusive and stated that he would do
as he pleased in his own house.

Further trouble an threats followed in which Helphrey used some
strong language and finally gave bent
to his rage by smashing a door panel
with his fist. Officers Moore and Lining were sent to the home after
Mr. Franks had come to the patrol
station for help. On the way to the
station house Helphrey told the officers that his father-in-law and mother-in-law were the cause of his family
troubles. He said he had been keeping them all winter.

CITIZEN DEMAND THAT AR-

And Also Saw an Aged Carpenter in
Rifle.

Washington, Feb. 22—"Major, if
there is not an arrest made between
this hour and 11 o'clock, every enlisted man we see on the streets will be
shot."

According to the testimony of Wil-
bert Vosschelle, formerly corral boss
at Fort Brown, before the Senate
committee on military affairs Thurs-
day, this threat was made to Major Penrose, a commander of the negro
battalion, at about 5:30 p. m. August 13, several hours before the
"shooting up" of the town.

who has been quoted by negro witnesses as saying that he learned of a
plot to massacre the negro soldiers.

He was called to the stand at noon
yesterday and examined by Senator
Foraker. He testified that at 5:30
o'clock on August 13, he had gone to
the canteen to get his mail and while
coming out he met Major Penrose,
Mayor Combe and the quarantine of-
ficer at Brownsville, whose name he
afterward learned to be Evans, make
the threat quoted.

The witness said that Evans was
excited and making wild gestures as
stood that Evans was the husband of
the woman alleged to have been assaulted by a negro soldier on that
day.

contradicted the testimony of Wm.
Napp, a former member of Company
C, who claimed to have heard Vos-
schelle declare that he had been in
town the night before the shooting
and had heard of a plan to massacre
negro soldiers when they went to the
negro saloon.

Vosschelle, after testifying that
white soldiers who preceded the negroes at Brownsville had had trouble
with the citizens, said that two days
after the shooting he met an old carpenter, familiarly known as "Dad,"
carrying a Winchester and who when
hunting, answered "No; but we'll be
night before last."

San Antonio, Feb. 22—Herbert El-
kins, clerk in the Leahy Hotel at Brownsville, testified in the court
martial yesterday that he heard a negro say that night, "I'll come back
and finish the d—whites."

He told how, from his room in the
rear of the Leahy Hotel on the second floor, he saw negroes come up
the alley and fire into the Cowan
House. He positively identified them
as negro soldiers.

He saw from the window of the
room next to his, negroes firing from
the barracks galleries, and heard the
roll call of Company B. Under cross
examination he repeated his direct
testimony.

HOW CAN I FORGET?

I remember, I remember,
When I was but a lad,
Down on the old plantation,
What jolly joys I had!

I used to milk the seven cows,
And swirl the sixteen motherly sows,
And give the eighteen horses oats,
And shuck the corn for thirty shoats,
And rock the baby on my knee,
Of cattle black and brown and red,
And fodder seven hundred sheep,
Each night before I went to sleep.

Ah, those were happy seasons
When I was but a lad,
I had so many dreams
For being gay and glad!

I used to rise at three o'clock
And feed the seven sows of stock
And chop eleven corn in wood
Before my appetite was good,
And after breakfast dig a ditch
Till all my muscles got the twitch,
And hoe the cotton afterwards
Along with six or seven coons.

Oh, what a sweet existence,
How jammed was daily joy,
Away off in the distance,
When I was but a boy!

For when after supper time
Up in the loft I used to climb
And fork down from the eaves of hay
To feed the animals that day,
And after that—ah, what a joy
For my happy heart to toy—
I turned the proverb (each reposes)
To sharpen forty-six on hoes.

I remember, I remember,
Those boyhood pleasures yet,
Down on the old plantation,
Ah, how can I forget?

and "Run Down" Women

Women in an exhausted, nervous state, due to over-work, continuous
social functions or a general "run down" condition of health, often wonder why tonics and emulsions are good to benefit them. The reason is plain.
Tonics and emulsions are fail in their place, but they cannot build up the
body until the nerves have been toned and quieted.

There's only one remedy that can restore health to women in this exhausted, nervous condition, because it acts directly upon the nerves.

Rexall

Americanitis Elixir

is the only remedy of its kind in existence. As its name implies, it's a specific for the peculiar exhausted nervous conditions resulting from the continuous rush and tension under which Americans live. This remedy fills an important gap in the line of medicines.

Rexall Americanitis supplies to the body just those elements which Nature cannot supply in sufficient quantities to meet the unnatural drain
upon the nervous system.

Thousands of women have been saved from nervous prostration by the prompt use of Rexall Americanitis. To all conditions of nervous debase-ment, exhaustion and debility it brings permanent relief.

Happenings.

Johnstown, Feb. 22—Mr. William Ashbrook, one of the oldest and most highly respected of the pioneer residents of Licking county, celebrated
birth at his home here on Tuesday,
when his children gathered at the

old home to do honor to him. Among
those present were Mr. and Mrs. M.
P. Ashbrook and William A. Ashbrook
Jr. of Granville, Mr. and Mrs. J. L.
Moore of Pataskala, and Mrs. C. E.
Garner of Lansing, Mich. "Uncle
Billy" was born on the farm where
he has always resided. He is in good health and bids fair to reach the century mark. It is remarkable that
there are three other citizens in
Johnstown who are also 83 years old:
Tommy Kisson, Asa Scovell and T. S.
Tompkins, and the former two, like "Uncle Billy," were born in Johnstown and have always lived here.

Norman G. Buxton who for the past few years has been in the employ of the Ohio Fuel and Supply
company leasing land and securing
the right of way, has accepted a position in the same capacity with the Heisey company of Newark. Mr.
Buxton is one of our Johnstown men,
and so successfully demonstrated his
ability in this line for the Ohio Fuel
that we feel the Heisey company is
to be congratulated for having been
able to secure his service.

Sherwood Blumer was called to Columbus Tuesday, who in connection
with others from various places in the
state met as a committee before Ohio
State Board for the purpose of revis-
ing the premium list of the sheep department. The results of this meeting being, one new book of the B
book.

Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock
the two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs.
Harvey Bush living about three miles
east of town, drank some concentrated lye. Dr. C. A. Dav was summoned at once and while the case is a
very severe one it is hoped the little
one will recover.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gales returned
to Johnstown Tuesday evening after
a wedding tour of month through
states in the south and west. They are visiting Mrs. Gales' father, Mr.
Peter Copland. Their many John-
stown friends are pleased to extend
hearty congratulations.

The many friends of Mrs. Ann
Stevens are pained to learn of her enfeebled condition, she being unable to walk at all. Her extreme age considered it is hardly probable that she will ever be any better. Mrs. Ruth Lincoln is at present caring for her.

The Pythian Sisters conferred the degrees upon Mr. and Mrs. Moll Clark
on last Tuesday evening. There was
a splendid attendance and all present
were served to refreshments consisting of coffee, ice cream and cake.

Adelle Pratt has recently sold his 140 acre farm four miles northwest of town to a Mr. Jakeway of Putnam
county, we understand the purchase
price being $60 per acre.

Mr. J. A. Runnels returned to his home in Johnstown from Emporia,
Kansas, where he has been for some
time on account of the illness and death of his sister Mrs. Zena Dunnield.

The condition of Mrs. Laura R. Hill
remains unchanged. She is still confined to her bed, being as yet unable to walk. No hopes are entertained
by her friends for her recovery.

For a Disease Germ That Liquezone Cannot Kill.

This offer goes out with every bottle
of Liquezone. Do you know you
would do that if any known germ
could resist it?

Liquezone is for those who believe
that a germ disease calls for a germi-
cide; that the germs must be killed
before the trouble can end. You have
doubtless tried the old ways, and you
know the results. We ask you to try
the new way; to try it at our expense.
Use what millions have used and learn
what they know about it. You are not
fair to yourself until you do that.

What Liquezone Is.

Liquezone is a tonic-germicide, the
virtues of which are derived solely
from oxide gases. No alcohol, no narcotic, nothing but gas enters into it.
The process of making requires large
apparatus, and consumes 14 days'
time. The object is to combine the
gases with a liquid as to carry their
virtues into the system.

The result is a germicide so certain
that we publish with every bottle an
offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that Liquezone cannot kill. It destroys them
because germs are of vegetable
origin. But to the body Liquezone is
exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying.

That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poisons when taken
internally. They are impossible, for

the germs. That is why medicine
proves so helpless in dealing with
germ diseases. Liquezone, on the contrary, acts as a remarkable tonic.

We Paid $100,000.

For the rights to Liquezone, after
thousands of tests had been made with
it, after its power had been demonstrated for more than two years in
the most difficult germ diseases. Conditions which had resisted medicine
for years yielded at once to it, and diseases considered incurable were cured.
That was five years ago. Since then
millions of people in every part of the
world have shared in the benefits of
this invention. Nearly every hamlet,
every neighborhood, has living examples of its power. Now we ask you to let it do for you what it did for them.

Germ Diseases.

Most of our sickness has, in late
years, been traced to germ attacks.
Some germs—as in skin troubles—directly attack the tissues. Some create toxins, causing such troubles as Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Kidney Disease
and nerve weakness. Some destroy
vital organs, as in Consumption. Some
—like the germs of Catarrh—create
inflammation; some cause indigestion.
In one of these ways, nearly every serious ailment is a germ result.

Such conditions call for a germicide,
not for common drugs. Liquezone
does what other means cannot accomplish. And it is wrong to cling to old ways when millions of people know
a way that is better.

What's New For Spring

In Fine Cotton Fabrics?

Is the question we are being asked almost daily. It's easy to show—and one customer after another has shown her appreciation by her unbounded enthusiasm: "You always do have the nicest line of wash goods in the city" has been a frequent remark. However, we ARE ready, and never has our line of WHITE GOODS and FINE COTTON FABRICS of both foreign and domestic makes been so large and so much admired. Beautiful SILK MIXED FABRICS both plain and broad; Swiss Appliques, French Organdie, Silk Plaids, Embroidered Silk Organdies, Silk Tissues, Embroidered Swiss Fabrics, and the new Pekin Stripes in many different weaves. In addition to these fine materials we are showing very extensive lines of Batistes, Fancy Cotton, Suitings, Linen Finish Gingham, Plain Gingham, Copies of Worst-Ed Plaid Effects and many lines of Dress Gingham.

We wish to say that the patterns of foreign fabrics can not be duplicated this season as these are imported and the orders were placed some 7 or 8 months ago. In many of these pieces there is only enough for one gown, and we bespeak an early look for the exclusive patterns.

A Lace Sale of 5,000 Yards--All 5c.

We will offer tomorrow morning a rare chance in the Wide Torchons, Fancy Novelty Laces, and wide Normandy Vals, in all 150 pieces to select from—ranging in width from 2 to 5 inches, and a line that cannot be duplicated. While there are laces here that are worth as high as 10c a yard, we will offer the entire quantity tomorrow morning at 5c.

The New Embroideries for Spring 1907.

Are all on sale. We are now showing the entire line of match sets in Nanisooks and Swiss, all widths in flouncings and corset cover embroideries—allogers and insertion to match most edges. In addition we have made several tables of embroideries that are under values and could not have been offered only by having placed our importation over one year ago. The rise in prices in the wholesale market has been phenomenal and later in the season the embroidery values will be much poorer in quality for the same price.

WOMAN'S DEATH DUE TO CHOKING

Coroner Declares Effie Mason, Found Dead Wednesday Night, Was Murdered.

Columbus, Feb. 22.—Coroner Murphy yesterday found, after an examination, that Effie Mason, who was discovered dead in her room at 171 1-2 East Town street Wednesday night, had died of asphyxiation, superinduced by strangulation. Marks on her throat showed where some person had choked her till life was extinct. There is no trace of the murderer.

Chief of Detectives Dundon concurred with the coroner in the belief that the woman was strangled. Detectives Hamer and Bergin are working on the case. Jesse Walker, a barber, employed at 139 South High street, who was regarded as the woman's sweetheart, was released from the police station early yesterday morning following an extended statement to the police, in which he said he called at her room about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, found her door locked, called to her, but got no response, visited a woman in an adjoining room and then went home, getting in bed about 9 o'clock.

BROKE CAR WINDOW AND "GUSSED" MUCH

Fritz Skinner of Columbus Refused to Pay 50 Cents for Damages
and it cost $20.

Drink was the cause of another case in police court Friday morning when Fritz Skinner of Columbus, was arraigned for being drunk and for malicious destruction of property. Skinner was arrested by Officer Howard on complaint of Conductor Clarence Hammond and Perry H. Richards, motorman of the interurban car which leaves Newark just before midnight. Skinner was on the car and became disorderly and used much profanity. He finally succeeded in breaking a window in the car and when he refused to settle for the damages the conductor had him placed under arrest.

He was placed on board an east bound car at the Idlewild switch and brought back to Newark where Officer Howard took charge of him. He was fined $20 and costs and sent to the stone pile.

WOMAN ARRESTED JEWELS RECOVERED

New York, Feb. 22.—Jewelry to the value, the police say, of $10,000 was recovered last night when detectives arrested Miss Amelia Russell, 21 years old. It is alleged the valuables were stolen from boarders in a number of West Side houses. Geo. Chartis, Howard Johnson, Charles Brown, John Degman and Joseph Albertina were also arrested. On one of the men were found pawn tickets showing that $2,000 in cash had been collected from various pawn shops. Police officials reported that much of the jewelry had been identified.

The arrests of the young woman and Chartis were made in the woman's room. Chartis, according to the detectives, broke down under his arrest and told of many robberies. He is 20 years old. He declared that under the leadership of the Russell woman he had robbed so many places he could not keep track of them. Fashionable West Side boarding houses were the chief sufferers.
